FAVORS THE OLD SOLDIERS.

Charter Revision Committee Wants Them Given Jobs by the City When Possible.

The charter amendment committee spent last evening in gathering up the bag ends of the business which has been transacted since its appointment. The most important changes which were contemplated had been previously determined and are in the hands of the city attorney to be put into proper shape to go before the legislature.

City Engineer Rosewater called the attention of the committee to the fact that a few interested parties had concocted a bill making the office of plumbing inspector an independent department of the city government.

He denounced this measure as a scheme to avoid the stringent regulations which had been adopted by the city to prevent plumbers from putting inferior work underground.

While the bill purported to be designed as a measure of public safety it was in fact intended to make it possible for unscrupulous contractors to increase their profits at the expense of the public.

Mr. Overall resurrected the matter of paying for repairing wooden block streets out of the general fund which was previously buried by the committee. His suggestion was not met with favor and died a natural death.

A prolonged discussion followed the report of the subcommittee on the request of members of the Grand Army that veterans be given the preference in employment by the park commissioners.

Mr. Winesinger presented a minority report in which he recommended that section 108 of the charter be amended to provide that all ex-soldiers of the United States volunteer service should be given the preference, provided that they were competent and able.

The majority report was signed by Wyman and Tukey and stated in substance that they were willing to endorse the minority report provided it was so amended as to extend its operation to all departments of the city government.

Mr. Tukey remarked that the majority of the committee did not wish to be considered lacking in patriotism, but they believed that there were a good many positions connected with the city government which were better adapted for the old soldiers than those in the gift of the park commission.

The veterans could be utilized in many ways in running elevators to good purpose, and in his opinion the provision should be extended so as to include these provisions.

Mr. Winesinger spoke at some length in behalf of his side of the report. He dwelt on the service which the veterans had rendered during their fighting days and declared that the least that the city should do in recognition was to grant their request in this instance.

Mr. Lochner, who was present in the interest of the Grand Army posts, was asked by Mr. Tukey whether he contended that the men who had been competent and faithful in the employ of the park commission for years should be discharged in case veterans applied for their positions.

He replied in the affirmative and added that in the past the few old soldiers who had been employed had been compelled to work out in the sun while other men stood in the shade and sprinkled the grass.

Colonel Chase spoke in favor of the minority report, and after some further debate the majority report was adopted and referred to the city attorney to prepare the proper amendment.

A motion was also passed requesting the city attorney to bring in all the amendments in their proper shape as soon as possible. The committee adjourned until next Wednesday night.

PAYING THE ELECTION BILLS.

Judges and Clerks of Election Can Now Draw Their Salaries.

The city council met yesterday to pass the appropriation ordinance for election expenses. The entire cost of the city election was something less than $6,000, of which $3,396 was for salaries of registrars; $1,128 for judges; $453 for clerks and $550 for special police.

In addition to these items there was some expense for repairing booths, canvassing the returns, etc. The ordinance was passed, and the clerks in the comptroller's office have prepared the warrants for delivery, and all creditors of the city on account of election can obtain their warrants Thursday.

The Board of Education has made arrangements to pay its share of the salaries of judges and clerks on the same day.

There are one or two individuals who have made a good profit in cashing certificates of the election officials in advance. They charge 50 cents premium, and a good many of the officials prefer to pay that amount rather than to wait until their warrants are ready.

One enterprising individual was circulating among the booths on the night of election dispensing his cards, on which was his name and address, with the information that he would cash all certificates at a discount of 50 cents from their face value.

The city comptroller is advertising for bids for furnishing nearly all kinds of supplies except coal for the city during the coming year. The items include lumber, ice, sewer pipe and cement, hay and feed for the city and police departments, and all sorts of black abstracts, contracts and other articles of stationery required in the various city offices.

The lumber specifications will be the same as those of last year, and the printing specifications are being prepared under the direction of Chairman Burkley of the committee on printing.

Christian Endeavorers Entertain at an "Owl" Social—Other Magic City News.

The owl social given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mullen proved a happy success. The prize for the best pencil picture of an owl was given to Miss Hattie Woods.

C. M. Rich carried off second prize and Miss Lizette Wells third. For the best original poem Dr. J. E. Crouthers was first, J. C. Carley second and Fred Mullen third.

The contesting sides in the potato catch were marshaled by Mrs. Carl Smith and Harvey Prosser, and did excellent work. Mr. Prosser's side was victorious.

Miss Cora Goodman and Miss Mabel Rich sang a duet, followed by a favorite quartet, consisting of Herbert Wells, Mamie Nettinger, Amie Burda and Miss Rice, closing with an original song by Miss Mullen.

Mr. Christie Condon and Mrs. E. J. Seykora rendered some pretty instrumental music upon the piano. A delightful lunch, at which Miss Cora Gosney and Minnie Sage poured coffee and Mrs. Thompson and Miss Mullen served sweet meats in the form of a baked owl with the usual side dishes, was spread.

More music and song closed one of the most enjoyable socials given by the Endeavorers in South Omaha this season.

Victious Dog Killed.

According to a report made to the police, Joseph Holleb owned a dog that was vicious. Mr. Olson reported that the canine had bitten him twice and his daughter once. Olson was killed at Eighteenth and P streets and was buried in the city cemetery.

Chief Brenner settled the whole controversy by killing the dog.

The members of the Young Men's Institute are introducing some fresh energy into their society. For a few days past the society became very lax. In a sermon a short time ago Father McDevitt gave the young men some strong advice and urged them to put a little more activity and vim into their meetings.

The hint was evidently well received, for the meeting held in the club room Tuesday night is said to have been one of the best and most largely attended of any since the institute was organized. The members are all well known young business men and the society has elegant apartments in the Evonka block at Twenty-fourth and N streets.

McClure with the Gang. Miles Nelson, a western cattle man who was in the city Tuesday, has recently returned from the Oklahoma territory. He says that United States marshals are pushing the Cook gang of outlaws and expect to have a battle with them soon. He stated that this gang has secret headquarters in St. Louis and receives assistance from friends there. It is also alleged that Charles McClure, the leader of the gang, tried to rob the Missouri Pacific train near this city last summer, and who was captured, tried, sentenced to seventeen years in the Lincoln state penitentiary, escaping a month later, is with the gang and is one of the boldest of the cutthroats. There are a couple in this vicinity who would breathe easier if they learned of McClure's death, for after being sentenced he swore to kill his pal, Bennington, who gave him away, and threatened the life of one of the railway officials.

When he was being taken to prison he remarked that he would not stay there long and when he got out he would go down into the Indian territory, where the officers could never take him alive.

SETTLING OLD CLAIMS.

Millions of Dollars Asked for an Account of Indian Depredations.

Assistant Attorney General Charles B. Howry and his assistant, Judge S. W. De Witt, of Washington, D. C., are at the Paxton block, Omaha, Nebraska, investigating claims against the government for Indian depredations committed in this section of the country years ago.

These gentlemen represent the legal department of the United States, and for the past several weeks have been investigating claims against the government in different portions of the country.

In pursuance of the provisions of a law which went into effect in August, there are about 11,000 of these claims now in various stages of litigation, aggregating $50,000,000.

In many instances judgments have been rendered against the government by stipulation, and Messrs. Howry and De Witt are now investigating the evidence in these judgments in order to correct and perfect the records.

The claims of this nature from Nebraska, chiefly made by the early settlers of the state, are those of Coe, Carrier & Co. and Henry T. Clarke. These depredations were committed by the northwestern Sioux in the winter of 1866, during which time the tribe caused an uprising against the settlers and ranchers on the then western frontier.

They stampeded the herds of horses, mules and cattle of the claimants, killed the herdsmen, burned the hay and sheds of the pioneers and committed many other lawless acts that are well remembered by the early settlers of Nebraska.

It was during this uprising that the bloody massacre at Fort Peterman took place and an attack was made on Fort Phil Kearney, but resulting in the routing of the red-skinned, murderous marauders. The government troops succeeded in subduing and defeating the Indians, and the settlers demanded indemnities and will be sent out for service in the country districts.

Police Officers Sullivan and Kirsane left yesterday for Sidney, Ia., where they go to testify against James West, alias "Cowboy," who is on trial for burglary. About the 1st of September these officers arrested West in this city, and he was taken back to Iowa. When searched West had some of the stolen property in his possession.

There are fifty men at work on the Dodge street paving under the direction of the city commissioners, cleaning the pavement and being repaired and painted, and will be sent out for service in the country districts.

The ladies of Druid Hill have organized themselves into a relief association and are doing much to help needy families in that vicinity. A few days ago one of the teachers reported a family consisting of a mother and seven children in destitute circumstances. These ladies responded and together they furnished the family with comfortable clothing and food.

This is but one instance of the good work which they have accomplished.

Drexel Can Have the Guns.

The county attorney has given an opinion on the application of Sheriff Drexel for two shotguns for the sheriff's office or the jail, to be used in the protection of the property of the county or in such cases as the sheriff may deem necessary. The opinion is that the expenditure would be perfectly legal and that the county and the commissioners would not be held responsible for the results of any poor shooting on the part of the sheriff or his forces. On this report Commissioner Jenkins will recommend, at the meeting on Saturday, that the artillery requested by the sheriff be purchased.
